Reflections

Loving the Life We Live

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

Philippians 4:8

When you know that consciousness is the one and only reality - conceiving itself to be something good, bad or indifferent, and becoming that which it conceived itself to be - you are free from the tyranny of second causes, free from the belief that there are causes outside of your own mind that can affect your life.

Neville

Contemplate the ideal world and the ideal world will reveal itself to you. The ideal world already exists, but we often have to train ourselves to see it. See the ideal conditions and circumstances and call them forth through intentional recognition. Whatever is not in accord with your ideal, let it recede and be no more in your personal experience.

Open yourself to the infinite good which is now available to you. Realize that the world process is nothing but consciousness forever unfolding and being. Infinite life takes form as things and conditions, according to our assumption and acceptance of it. Be a conscious participant in the transformation of the world.

Open Your Life to Infinite Good, Roy Eugene Davis

Our daily life is seldom ideal. It is filled with conflicts in consciousness (holding on to one or more false ideas we have of or about ourselves). It may be trapped with anxiety, hurt, pain, loss, feelings and thoughts of failure. One part of our life is we say, "this is as good as it gets", or we surrender to fear and feelings of going through our life facing one tragedy or loss after another.

I propose turning all of that thinking around and living from a place of acceptance, experience of love and insight to guide us wisely on our way.

1. In a very real sense, God as the Source of All Life is everywhere. There is no place where God's Presence is not! In this moment we make a decision - an over arching decision to live in a friendly universe. We look at life differently. The experience of life is friendly - that is we see it and experience it in friendly terms. We lift up our eyes to the light and stop or surrender thoughts of attack, anger, hurt and “woe is me” interpretations of our life experience.

2. When we love the life we live, we stop the up and down roller coaster of thoughts, good or bad, of judgment toward others and ourselves. We arrive at a place inside ourselves called acceptance!

We learn to experience life as it is, not necessarily as we wish it to be. Our husband is who he is as a man, as a human. Our wife also is a human wonder woman and I wonder what she’s up to. We learn among the many lessons of life, each person has a personality that can be experienced with pleasure or experienced in pain.

As we accept people, we give ourselves permission to be ourselves. We discover that dress up clothes, powder and paint has nothing to do with anything. It’s window dressing as in a department store display.

We fail at what we try to accomplish and yet we succeed if we learn to be adaptable, flexible and willing to try again.

If we love (accept) the life we live, we allow ourselves, our deep, real (inner) selves to show up at the doorstep of life offering hand picked flowers for the day.

Yes, difficult experiences will still come our way. We shall see the birth of a new idea in the ashes of loss, wounding or even death.

Finally, bless fully and deeply all the experiences of our lives. Each one serves even when we, at the conscious level, can see no reason to be happy or celebrate. Blessing will change the way we experience the situation from hurt, loss, lack to what is and let go of judgment. Enemies are often gifts in disguise waiting for their moment to make a positive difference in our lives.

Allies Among Us

Allowing and Accepting Sustenance from the Sacred

with Robin Harman

“The secret and the sacred are sisters. When the secret is not respected, the sacred vanishes. Consequently, reflection should not shine too severe or aggressive a light on the world of the soul.”

John O’Donohue, Anam Cara: A Book of Celtic Wisdom

Each of us is surrounded by beings of Light, serving as guides, allies, protectors and suppliers of encouragement. Allowing their participation in our daily life, appreciated and acknowledged, strengthens our purpose as well as our ability to address the challenge of being human.

When we invest in cultivating trust in realms of support, we foster the birth of miracles: Tiny gems of insight, comfort, and wisdom of priceless merit. In moments of ease and delight, those gems add sparkle and awareness. When less-than-pleasurable passages occur, our relationship with allies are then in position, and of service.

Each of us must uncover details of this exploration within our own uniquely spinning sphere.

We can choose to:

- Discipline our time to work the inner relationship with Self that recognizes the voices of both seen and unseen support.
- Remember to perform activities to open doorways to assistance from beings of goodness. Trust the process. Invite. Be available.
- Be grateful.

When we commit to the right-for-us spiritual disciplines, we honor our expanded consciousness. We can live a more joyous, integrated life. And, when the need arises, our friends and allies will be in place to guide us home to the Self. Let’s explore those relationships and possibilities. Let’s deep dive into the Mysteries of Spirit, together.

Robin Harman has apprenticed for over 25 years in Peruvian shamanic traditions with don Oscar Miro-Quesada, sourcing experience as a meditation therapy facilitator, as well as in-depth consciousness training with other revered teachers. Educated in music, religion and the arts, Robin’s commitment to infusing an essence of Spirit into unwavering service to Mother Earth and its populations colors all that she does. She works with a focused sense of humor, play and wonder to assist others in distilling the depths of their sacred knowing.

Robin Harman

When Jesus asked, “Who do you say that I am?” It seems to speak to his desire to have them know and name his true identity.

That same question, pointed toward: Who do you say that YOU are? This offers insight into your presence in the world.

In our time together we will explore layers of self-defining language, and clarify our roles, names and authentic Self.

Robin Harman has apprenticed for over 25 years in Peruvian shamanic traditions with don Oscar Miro-Quesada, sourcing experience as a meditation therapy facilitator, as well as in depth consciousness training with other revered teachers. Interfaith Tampa Bay Group

Once a month, the Interfaith Tampa Bay group meets at the Hangar Restaurant in St. Petersburg. Ministers and lay people from many different faiths join together in the spirit of Oneness, Unity, Truth, Love and Peace. We share in an inter-active discussion, and plan for a variety of interfaith events throughout the year. Many representatives of the various faiths come together, to reach out for community support, sharing ideas and activities in spiritually educational, as well as social arenas. TLG is honored and privileged to be a part of this spiritual and loving group.

Rev. Karmene Lusia attends both of these outreach meetings as the TLG minister representative.

Historic Kenwood

We, at the Temple of the Living God, are proud to receive the “Best Business Award” presented to us this past May by the Historic Kenwood Association. It has been deeply rewarding to be a member of HKNA, attending their monthly meetings, providing space for their monthly HKNA meetings, as well as their monthly Artists’ Enclave gatherings. We have provided a creative space for the artist showcase during BungaloFest 2016, as well as, being supportive of the HKNA community in various other ways throughout the years. As former president, Brenda Gordon, states, “We are so appreciative of the Temple of the Living God and their support of the wonderful community we live in!” Thank you, Brenda for your kind acknowledgement.

and works deeply by clearing, repairing and strengthening the etheric pattern, allowing the physical body and feeling centers to come into balance and heal.

BIO: Lonnie holds a Bachelor's degree in Physics, a Master's Degree in Project Management and has been a certified massage therapist. A student of original founder Dr. Creed himself, Lonnie recently was re-certified in four levels of Chiron Healing. He has been a practitioner of healing modalities for over 35 years, and has also authored various books, including "The Soul as Healer". He utilizes sound, color, essential oils and the etheric/mental levels of the individual in his work and focuses on the use of affirmation and visualization as great starting points for healing. Lonnie believes in the co-creative process of healing -- one must be open and receptive to healing energies, as all permanent healing starts from within. He is also a life-long musician and is currently marketing his latest work: Endpoint, a sci-fi/fantasy screenplay.
