Reflections

Rev. LeRoy Zemke

Exploring Our Life's Tapestry

This glorious soul we must believe in. Out of that will come power. Whatever you think, that you will be. If you think yourselves weak, weak you will be. If you think yourselves strong, strong you will be; if you think yourselves impure, impure you will be. If you think yourselves pure, pure you will be. This teaches us not to think ourselves as weak, but as strong, omnipotent, omniscient. No matter that I have not expressed it yet, it is in me. All knowledge is in me, all power, all purity, and all freedom. Why cannot I express this knowledge? Because I do not believe in it. Let me believe in it, and it must and will come out. This is what the idea of the Impersonal teaches.

Swami Vivekananda

Tapestry, noun; An intricately, usually hand woven cloth depicting an image or series of images depicting a specific event, occasion, real or metaphysical. The scene contains an unknown quantity of multi colored wool, silk, flax, cotton, etc., threads interwoven to create the desired image. The end result is often stunningly, staggeringly and indescribably exquisite inviting deep and rich consideration over extended periods of time.

Of such is the uncontrovertible context and fabric of our life. We are complex beyond our ability to imagine. Yet it is through the door of our imagination that we can begin to imagine, even at an elemental or basic level, something of the grandeur or splendor of who we are!

There are a series of comments that I'd like to offer that invite reflection and thus help us to gain insight into our life's journey - a gentle inquiry into our soul's tapestry and that which I am calling our life.

1. Who are we? From ancient spiritual teachings and teachers, to modern awakened beings alike, it is suggested over and over and over again that we are, each of us, an individualized spark of God consciousness, a unique flame of the Divine embodied in a human form.

This idea indicates we are potentially awakening to our greatness, our innate magnificence, our unique blend of capabilities, capacities, skills, talents and what are called soul powers.

2. God is within, without, above, below, inside, outside, beyond description, beyond language, yet is present everywhere. God is omniscient, all powerful, all loving, Allness, oneness and any other specific combination of words or metaphors, that we can use to describe the ancient dictum. God is a circle whose circumference is nowhere and whose center is everywhere.

3. We are sparks of the Sacred therefore we carry the seeds of the Universe (Sacred Divine) within us. At the most mundane level (biological) seeds are sprouted by heat, light, water and nutrient in a proper growing medium. Most plant seeds are sprouted in soil, for example, provided most of the above conditions are met at the physical level. As humans we grow when we are nurtured by parents, family, proper nutrition, physical, emotional, mental and spiritual care, love, acknowledgement and any and all kinds of education. The multi layered support that comes from all the confluence or influences of the community, religion, society, culture, state, town and home of our birthplace or our homeland creates sets the stage for the unfolding of our soul's tapestry, the emerging of the entity we ultimately come to call a human being.

4. What about Reincarnation: The late Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt (1933 to 1945) is supposed to have said when she was asked if she believed in reincarnation, "I find it no more impossible to have lived before as to show up in this life, now." The Hindu, Buddhist and Tibetan spiritual traditions teach reemodiment. Christianity, strictly speaking, does not.

Personally, I accept that reemodiment occurs and that we evolve through successive life times refining, purifying, deepening and unfolding who we are. The growth attained, mastered or thus integrated is a powerful thread or perhaps series of threads that form the colors and patterning of our soul's tapestry.

Reincarnation, as a teaching, cannot be proven absolutely, following a strictly scientific protocol. Because we cannot see one of the forces of nature called the wind, yet witness its' effects, across the world, does not disprove its existence, however. So with reincarnation.

Whether we individually accept the essential teaching of reemodiment as such, or not, I believe the dimensions or realms of what we call the soul contain the history and potential patterning for all we may become. At the very least we have this core of potential available to us to become as we take on the human experience of a spiritual being.

5. The Way of Meditation: The ancient art of uncovering what is hidden at the deepest innermost recesses of our nature. The practice of meditation is an inner directed art of allowing our real, authentic voice to be seen, known and experienced. As we let go of ego issues, the masks of personality and the roles of behavior, we take on as male, female, straight or gay, race, color, creed, engineer or imagineer (as in artist, painter, author, actor, etc.) we slowly uncover our deepest sense of connection to life.

All spiritual systems embrace a form of meditational practice. While the forms/systems vary, the deeper purpose is to become aware of who we are beyond our daily mask (male/female, father/mother, doctor, dentist or spiritual director. We uncover yearnings, longings and urges. And we go deeper to a place when there is quietness, stillness, beyond imaginings and emotional intensities. It is the deepest innermost place of which saints and sages call peace, a sense of oneness or connectedness to All that is.

Eastern and western teachers of the inner way have extensive language in hundreds of writings, CD's and sacred texts that allow us to study and examine the experiences of others. The task is to discover how that connection serves us. The practical side of meditation is in what it gives, reveals, opens and allows us to sense into beyond the form, function or the nitty gritty of life.

It might be a worthy exercise to write out in a daily or weekly journal what the benefits of that special practice called Meditation was revealed to us - individually. Keep track of what is perceived as having a specific value. It will amaze and surprise one ... even after a short time how the practice and recording insights or values is genuinely helpful.

6. The Role of Relationships: One of the major keys of our discovery in our lives is given to us in the form of human relationships. All colors, stripes and strains from every level of our life influence us. From geographical location, to race, culture and creed down to the language of our family of origin, choices of profession, work, job or business. Of course, it includes all members of a family, siblings, extended relatives and friends and acquaintances, neighbors and teachers. In short, all people who were part of our life, in the past, or are now and those who are to come as well play a role - add a thread or two or many hundreds or more to the kaleidoscope of influences we call relationships. We owe an incredible debt of gratitude to all those who have had a tiny as well as towering task in helping us to get to this point in our growth, discovery and learning. We stand upon the shoulders of all others who have played the profound role of our ancestors. Without their sacrifices, their commitments (those of which we know as well as those about which we do not know), we are the man/woman person we are because of them.

Again, it might be a useful exercise to write out a listing of all the major players (relationship wise) in our lives. Write out the list in any order. Start now and work backwards, or start from earliest memories and move forward. List qualities most strongly associated with each person. Be sure to include those with whom there has been conflict, difficulty and really directed frustration as well as those who offered support, care, love and many positive benefits/gifts. All people have their place in the larger scheme of things. It's our work to really see that, at depth and allow their unique gifting to be received and honored.

As one can begin to discern who we are is as complex as attempting to map the heavens. When we study the heavens on any starlit night, we become aware that the naked human eye can only see a fragment, an infinitesimally small portion of the visible arrangement of stars, gases, asteroids and other debris often called "space dust". And that space material is constantly in motion, changing, moving, collapsing upon itself to reform and re-configure itself in what appears as an endless array of some known and mostly unknown energies.

How much more complex, infinitely so, are we? And what does it require of us to discover who we really are ... beyond appearances, beyond perceptions, beyond what is seen or may appear for one day, occasion or moment in time! That I believe is the call, the challenge and the profound opportunity of the human incarnation!

Astro – Insights for September and October

by Carol (CJ) Bonni

Overview for September: September is a very busy month with 8 planets retrograde. It feels like everything has come to a halt. Venus is the first planet to go direct. So if there is that special someone you have had your eye on, now is the time to make your feelings known. Chiron, the wounded healer in Aries where it stays until the end of December. Have you noticed how many ads on TV have been for migraine medication? That is Chiron making its presence known. Pluto, God of the underworld or in modern terms, God of the subconscious, is what cannot be seen. Pluto is still Retrograde in Capricorn, giving all of us a chance to clean up whatever we have left unfinished. Make amends. Make that phone call and say what you have left unsaid. Uranus, still Retrograde in Taurus, is shaking things up, removing deadwood from our lives. Sometimes it may seem that everything is going wrong, when in reality, when Uranus is doing its job, they are just being re-arranged for the right outcome.

Neptune, Saturn and Jupiter are the last of the outer planets that are currently Retrograde. Neptune in Pisces, God of the sea, rules floods, mud slides and hurricanes and while Neptune is retrograde, people are having problems with their prescribed medications. If in doubt, read the label again, and ask your healthcare provider if your prescription dosage needs to be adjusted.

Jupiter is considered the “good luck” planet, but even Jupiter is having problems granting wishes while under a retrograde influence. Saturn retrograde in Pisces is a tough taskmaster, urging us to remove our rose colored glasses and face reality. Act like an adult.

Overview for October: More excitement in October. There are two Eclipses this month. The first one at the New Moon is a Solar Eclipse at 21 Libra on October 14, 2023. This Eclipse is all about love and romance. The energy is full of excitement and anticipation and a willingness to try new ways of looking at your surroundings. Expand your horizons. The Full Moon at 5 Taurus, Sun at 5 Scorpio. This eclipse has a deeper feeling than that of the Solar Eclipse. This one is all about testing loyalty and trustworthiness. Invite a new friend to join you in viewing the Full Moon Eclipse. Don't put all your cards on the table until after the Full Moon.

Here's your forecast for September and October:

ARIES: Pay attention to the warnings in the Overviews. Proceed with caution until after all the Eclipse energies have subsided. Then feel free to proceed with wild abandon and invitations to get rowdy.

TAURUS: The same warning I gave to Aries applies to you too. You are normally cautious and careful with money and possessions. Don't make any major purchases until after all the Eclipses in October have passed. The rest of the year looks much better. Go ahead with your Christmas shopping in November. Or better yet, do it in August or September. You are blessed and loved by all your friends. Practice gratitude and you will be doubly blessed.

GEMINI: September Full Moon message for you Gemini is to be bold, be daring, invite a new friend to have lunch at a place that you have wanting to try. Take deep breaths, and feel the energy of the trees, the plants and the interconnectedness of all life. Be amazed. Share your playfulness and your sense of wonder. Enjoy the wonders of the earth and know how much you are loved.

CANCER: September Full Moon message for you is to integrate the qualities of the Aries Moon (be daring, be courageous) and the Libra Sun (be willing to fall in love again). Take some chances under this Full Moon. You will reap many rewards. You are a blessing to others. Be assured that your friends have noticed how much you care about others. Smile more and let your Light shine.

LEO: My Spirit Guides are telling me to tell you that things (especially now with all the retrograde planets) that nothing is as bad as it may seem. Get more restful sleep. Count your many blessings. Listen to your Spirit Guides. You are loved even more than you know. Look for it, because someone is looking for you.

VIRGO: The planetary alignment in September is mostly in Earth signs. This makes you very happy because now you know that you are surrounded by kindred spirits. Turn to them for support in times of trouble and when you need a friend. You are blessed. Share your blessings, don't let all those retrograde planets stop you, but they might slow you down. Everything loosens up a lot by the end of the year. Stay tuned for my Insights in November and December.

LIBRA: All the planets line up in September and again in October in ways that spell romance and adventure for you. But it might be in your dreams because Neptune is very close to the Full Moon in September and closely aligned with both Venus and Mars in October. Pleasant dreams for you. Keep a dream journal during these 2 months. Your guidance will come through in your dreams.

SCORPIO: New Moon in “get things done” Virgo is especially auspicious for you Scorpio. Watch for sudden opportunities that seem to show up unexpectedly. Be ready and stay focused on the outcome. The Solar and Lunar Eclipses in October have everyone on edge. Take deep cleansing breaths Go for morning walks and enjoy the sounds and sights of the early morning. Hug a tree and listen for the sounds coming from inside the tree. Be amazed.

SAGITTARIUS: You are always on the lookout for a new exciting adventure. You won't be disappointed in October. Be on the lookout for a possible new romance . 2 Eclipses occur in October one a Solar at the New Moon at 21 degrees of Libra (romance is in the air) and the next one is on October 28, 2023, Sun at 5 degrees of Scorpio, Moon 5 degrees Taurus with Jupiter along for the ride. Stay centered and keep breathing. Be happy and know how much you are adored!

AQUARIUS: Your special talent is your ability to see the possibility of a world that works for everyone. You can inspire people to share this vision. Be of good cheer. Keep smiling. Know that you are loved and admired.

PISCES: You are the true romantics of the Zodiac. You want to feed the hungry, comfort those who are depressed, hug everyone. You dream of a perfect world of love, peace and harmony. You can dream this into reality. Believe it, then act as if it is already true. Go ahead and hug everyone you care about and tell them how much you love them. All these good wishes will return to you a hundredfold.
